Fairfax County Board of Supervisors Honors Retiring Congressmen Moran and Wolf

Fairfax, Virginia—Today, the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors honored retiring United States Representatives Jim Moran (VA 8th District) and Frank Wolf (VA 10th District) in a special presentation at the Fairfax County Government Center.

“I am pleased to recognize two great Virginians,” Chairman Bulova said. “These two men have dedicated their lives to public service and should be commended for their decades of exceptional work in the community.”

On behalf of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors, Chairman Bulova presented the two Congressmen with Resolutions recognizing their commitment to public service in Northern Virginia. Congressman Wolf “has been a consistent advocate for issues important to Fairfax County residents, including I-66 congestion relief; gang prevention, human trafficking, funding solutions for the Silver Line, as well as Lyme disease awareness. He strongly advocates for human rights around the world — a voice for the voiceless — serving as the co-chair of the Tom Lantos Human Rights Commission.” Rep. Wolf has served the 10th Congressional District for 34 years.

Congressman Moran was recognized for his “legacy in leadership, including support of regional transportation solutions, the environment, technology, women’s issues, fiscal discipline and efforts to protect federal employees and federal retirees. He strongly advocated for Fairfax County on numerous issues, including efforts to secure funding to reduce traffic impacts in Northern Virginia associated with BRAC-related (Base Realignment and Closure) transportation improvements and bringing rail to Dulles.” Rep. Moran has represented the 8th Congressional District for 23 years.
